

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A system and method of load balancing in an upstream proxy. Information is received from a plurality of downstream proxies. A list of downstream proxies is maintained. Weights are assigned to each of the downstream proxies in the list, the weight based upon information received from the downstream proxies.

10004415.1.0201